Letter to Parents

To the Parents:

The Florida Poison Information Center Network is proud to present our Poison Prevention Activity Book. Within these covers, your children will become acquainted with some of the local creatures of Florida as well as learn what to do to prevent poisonings. Please take the time to review this important material with your children and emphasize for them to “ask someone before they taste, smell, or touch.”

We hope that this activity book will be a good source of poison prevention information and fun for children as well. If you are looking for additional information, please visit the poison centers in Florida on the web at www.fpincn.org. And remember, if you think someone has been poisoned, call toll-free to 1-800-222-1222.

Sincerely,

Your friends at the Florida Poison Information Center Network

Meet Stan the Florida Scorpion!

Hi! I'm Stan the Florida Scorpion. I'm part of the Poison Patrol gang. I am here to help you learn about some poisonous creatures. For example, I have a stinger located on the tip of my tail. If a scorpion stings you, tell a grown up right away... so they can call the Poison Center to find out what to do.

Meet Widow!

My name is Widow the Spider and I need your help to determine the animals that may bite or sting. Use the clues below to solve the puzzle.

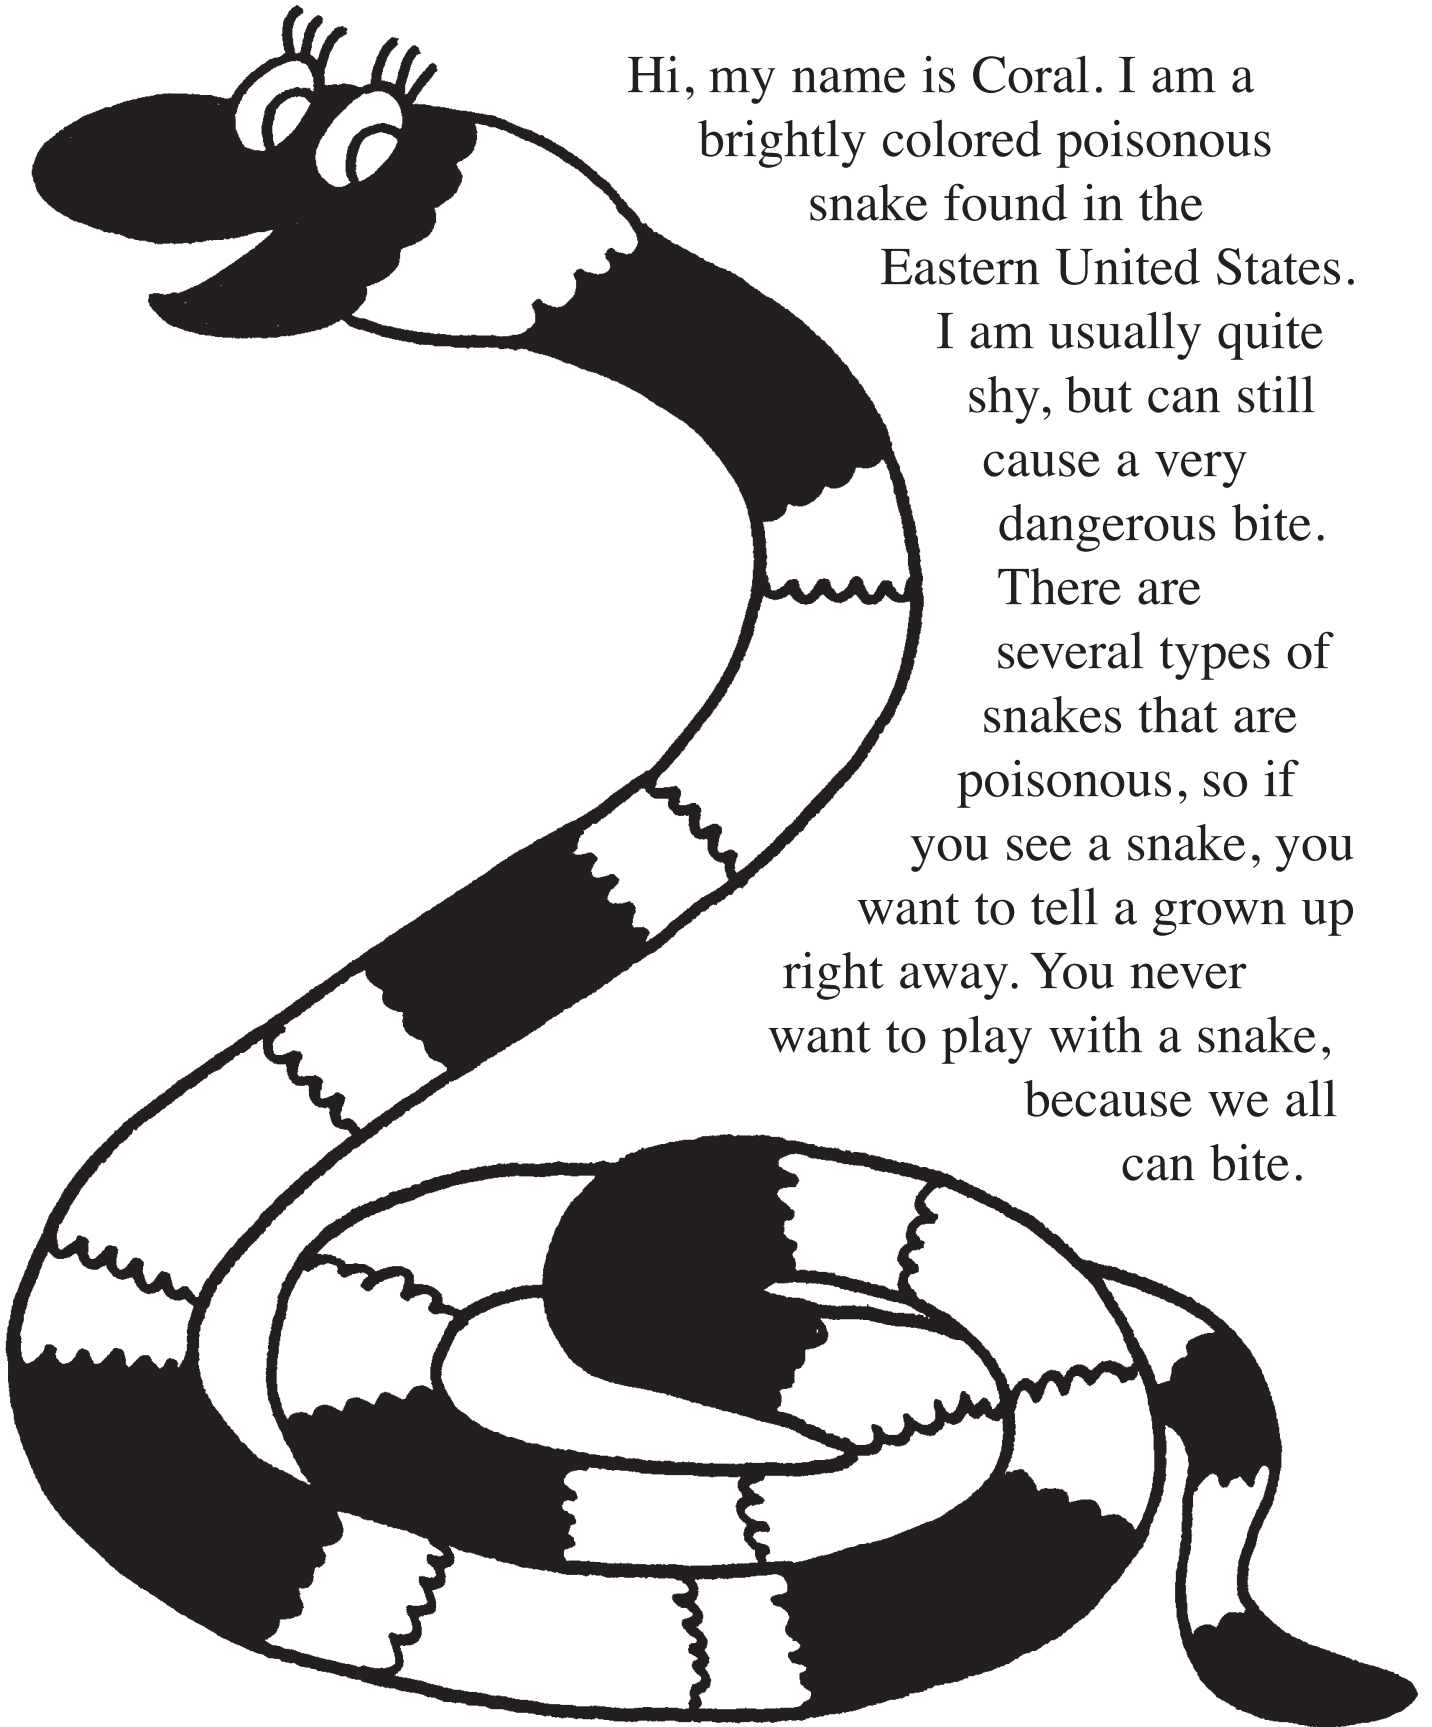

Across

- 1. I have pinchers and a tail that stings
- 3. I have a see-through body with long tentacles
- 5. I have eight legs and spin a web
- 6. I am usually black or red in color with 6 legs and I like picnics
- 7. I fly and make a buzzing noise

Down

- 2. I am fuzzy with lots of little feet and I eat leaves
- 4. I have no legs or arms but special teeth to bite

Meet Coral the Snake!

Hi, my name is Coral. I am a brightly colored poisonous snake found in the Eastern United States.

I am usually quite shy, but can still cause a very dangerous bite. There are several types of snakes that are poisonous, so if you see a snake, you want to tell a grown up right away. You never want to play with a snake, because we all can bite.

Stan Needs Your Help!

Stan the Scorpion needs help to get away from the poisons.
Can you get him to his home that has been poison-proofed?
